Goo gone
Lincoln and Polomac students see the final day of Mike Horse Dam

School kids from Lincoln and Polomac got a first-hand look at the construction site of the Mike Horse Dam on Oct. 1 as part of a field trip organized by the Mike Horse Access Trail committee.

The trip was a chance for the students to see the progress being made on the dam, which is being built to improve water flow through the area.

"It's exciting to see the work being done," said one student. "We've learned a lot about how dams are built and how they help the environment."