APPEARANCES

ATTORNEY	APPEARING	on	BEHALF	ΟF	THE	DEPARTMENT:
----------	-----------	----	--------	----	-----	-------------

MR. MARK LUCAS, ESQ.

Special Assistant Attorney General

Montana Department of Environmental Quality

1520 East Sixth Avenue

Helena, MT 59620

WHEREUPON, the following proceedings were 1 2 had: 3 CHAIR DEVENY: I think everybody is 4 5 here. We'll go ahead and get started. Lindsay, would you double check, and do another roll call, 6 7 make sure we have a quorum. MS. FORD: Chris Deveny. 8 9 CHAIR DEVENY: Present. 10 MS. FORD: Dexter Busby. MR. BUSBY: Present. 11 12 MS. FORD: Hillary Hanson. 13 MS. HANSON: Here. 14 MS. FORD: John Dearment. 15 MR. DEARMENT: Here. MS. FORD: Tim Warner. 16 17 MR. WARNER: Here. MS. FORD: Chris Tweeten. 18 19 MR. TWEETEN: Here. 20 CHAIR DEVENY: Thanks. Could we have 21 anybody in the room who wasn't here earlier please 22 identify themselves, to get a record of who all is 23 attending. We'll start over here on the right. 24 MR. ANDERSON: Chad Anderson, 25 Enforcement Program Manager here at DEQ.

MS. ANDERSON: Leaa Anderson, Enforcement.

MR. KENNEY: Dan Kenney, Enforcement.

MR. SIVERS: Eric Sivers, Groundwater Discharge Permitting DEQ.

CHAIR DEVENY: So we're getting ready to start our second case today, and before we start that, Sarah had just a couple of things she wanted to mention.

MS. CLERGET: I just wanted to say to you guys that this is the first time that this has ever happened, is that this is obviously a decision that I proposed to you. So I've done a bunch of research, because this question came up for the Board before.

And so in some discussion with John previously, and then some discussion among my office, and some research, I wanted to let you guys know that the way I believe you should proceed when I am the Hearing Examiner is -- I wear two hats for you, one of them is as Hearing Examiner, and one is your Board attorney.

But they're sort of the same hat, in that my goal here is to make sure that you guys have a product that is unassailable as possible for appeal purposes.

So I want you guys to get this right. I have no ego in any of these decisions. And while I'm not an advocate for my own decision or anybody else's position, I am available to answer questions if you need to. I think that is something that is possible.

If for some reason I believe it is inappropriate for me to answer a question, or it might involve a conflict for any reason, I'll let you know, and you can seek advice of another attorney. There are attorneys available in my office who can answer any questions that you have other than me.

So I want to just be clear that although I have rendered these decisions, I am still your attorney, and if you need a technical or procedural question answered, I'm happy to do that.

With that said, you have a memo from me on this case reminding you of your options.

They're the same options as were in Payne based on 2-4-621. And you have the materials on the case, from the case in your packet.

Just a reminder that we have DEQ, Mark

Lucas is here live to argue, but Wagoner Family chose to essentially give their argument in written form, so they're not going to be here today. And so you look at their written argument as though it were their oral argument. You can proceed.

CHAIR DEVENY: All right. We're going to hear oral arguments now on the Wagoner Sand and Gravel appeal of the Opencut Mining Act. And as Sarah mentioned, the Wagoners presented their oral arguments in written form, and it was posted on the BER website, and all of the Board members were sent a copy of that, I think yesterday or the day before. So everybody should have had a chance to read that.

And it appears that there is nobody here from them, so we will proceed then with the DEQ oral arguments on this case.

MR. LUCAS: Thank you, Madam Chair, and good morning. Good morning, Board members. My name is Mark Lucas. I'm a staff attorney with DEQ.

The matter before you is an enforcement matter which involves a permit with an expired reclamation date, and the permittee's inability to present a complete application to extend that reclamation date over a period of roughly nine months, despite the exchange of five deficiency letters with the Department.

I would like to note one minor error in the Board's agenda today. It indicates that both parties sought clarification of the Hearing Examiner's ruling. That is actually a mistake.

MS. CLERGET: I meant to correct that.

I apologize. I meant to say that it was only

Wagoners who asked for clarification on the order, not DEQ. And Mark informed me of that, and I meant to correct the record and I forgot, so thank you Mark for reminding me.

MR. LUCAS: You're welcome, Sarah. DEQ did not seek any clarification on the order which we think is sufficiently clear, nor did DEQ take any exceptions to the order. We're here today to ask the Board to adopt the findings of fact and conclusions of law contained in the Hearing Examiner's partial summary judgment order in their entirety.

As has been noted, Counsel for Wagoner is not present today. Counsel for Wagoner did submit to you a 14 page written statement. We have some objections to that statement.

First of all, that written statement raises new arguments not raised below, including factual allegations that the Department was somehow unhelpful to Wagoner in the permit amendment process, and if we had been more helpful, then Wagoner would have never gotten into trouble.

We haven't had a chance to address those allegations below, but the record before you actually reflects the contrary in this case. What that record reflects is that Wagoner's violation of the Opencut Mining Act resulted from its own inability to present a complete application, despite numerous attempts, multiple extensions from the Department, and clear written instructions, which you can find in the Opencut Mining permit amendment application itself, and in the five subsequent deficiency letters.

CHAIR DEVENY: Excuse me, Mr. Lucas. I forgot to say I'm going to limit you to fifteen minutes. So we are timing you on this.

MR. LUCAS: Thank you. This is a simple case. The law plainly requires opencut operators to comply with the terms of their permits, including reclamation conditions. And the Hearing Examiner's order found that Wagoner was in violation of its permit for 42 days, from August 11th, 2016 until September 22nd, 2016, because during that period, Wagoner did not have a completed application pending before DEQ, and it had not completed reclamation.

What I'd like to do now is turn to some of the arguments that Wagoner has raised as their exceptions, and just touch upon them briefly, and then I would make myself available for any questions the Board has. Given the fact that my opponent is not here, I would like to keep it short.

The material facts in this case were not disputed by the parties, so this case really turns on questions of law, and with regard to each argument Wagoner made on a question of law, the Hearing Examiner quite appropriately, I would submit to you, ruled in the Department's favor.

One of Wagoner's legal arguments is that subsequent compliance moots out past violations.

The law is very clear that a defendant's voluntary cessation of unlawful conduct does not suffice to moot a case. That would be the equivalent of me letting the registration tag on my license plate expire, get pulled over, take the ticket, and then go to court and fight it, and say, "Well, after I got pulled over, I updated my registration."

The Hearing Examiner made some good points about this. It's an absurd reading of the act, and that's a theme that you're going to see again and again with Wagoner's legal arguments. These are absurd readings that disregard the plain language that put the act in conflict with itself.

In this case, to allow the subsequent amendment of a permit to moot out the violation leads to an absurd result that essentially sanctions the misconduct that occurred. Such a reading is in contravention of applicable regulations, which state that a permit amendment is effective only upon approval and issuance, and such a reading would negate the deterrent power of the Department's Administrative Order authority.

Another legal argument which Wagoner has carried over into their exceptions that DEQ must first issue a cease mining order under Section 8-2-434(4) before DEQ can issue an Administrative Order under Section 80-2-441 Subsection (5).

The Examiner really covered this pretty well, too. The reality is that those are separate and independent enforcement options that DEQ's approval, if we issue a cease mining order, we then have to proceed through the District Court to get fines and to get corrective action. If we issue an Administrative Order, we proceed through the Board.

Wagoner raised a variety of new arguments in its exceptions, all of which we object to, and we encourage you to reject. These issues were not raised below. Wagoner failed to exhaust its administrative remedies during the hearing process and during the summary judgment process.

The first argument is that Wagoner was not given sufficient time to reclaim the site.

That's not only factually incorrect based on the record, it's brand new. We've never seen it before.

The second new argument is that equity dictates that there is no violation. Here Wagoner is basically taking -- is at odds with the Hearing Examiner over what her ruling means. An order to clarify was issued. It is very clear that Wagoner was in violation, and that equity does not dictate that Wagoner should somehow be absolved from the violation.

And there is also another new argument which is a general exception, that it is not reasonable to punish Wagoner because there was no violation.

Again, Madam Chair, members of the Board, these arguments are at odds with the ruling below and the law. So at this stage we would suggest and we would request that you adopt the Hearing Examiner findings of fact and conclusions of law in their entirety. And I would make myself available for any questions you may have. Thank you.

MS. CLERGET: You have seven minutes remaining.

CHAIR DEVENY: Thank you, Mr. Lucas. Do members of the Board have questions of Mr. Lucas?

MR. DEARMENT: Madam Chair, if I could.

CHAIR DEVENY: John Dearment.

MR. DEARMENT: Thank you, Madam Chair.

Mr. Lucas, in the written comments, the attorney for Wagoner -- and this is on Page 9 first sentence or two under Section A -- "The only violation which is at issue now is whether or not

Wagoner failed to timely reclaim the mining site.

This should be a moot point considering that

Wagoner began the process of amending its permit

in December 2015, and was finally granted amendment to continue operations in March of 2017."

Do you agree with the first part of that, that the only issue is -- the only violation is the failure to timely reclaim? And if so, why is it not moot given the ongoing permitting process through that time period, and eventual approval in 2017?

MR. LUCAS: Member Dearment, I think I've addressed that in my opening statements.

But the violation was the failure to reclaim, and then they were in violation of their permit, and they had two choices: Reclaim the site, or amend their permit. So they were out of compliance with the law for 42 days. They are required to comply with the terms of their permit, including reclamation conditions.

So it doesn't moot it out. We withdrew the violation for basically operating without a permit as a matter of prosecutorial discretion, and we proceeded with the violation of failing to comply with the terms of their permit.

So that violation was not mooted out for the reasons I said. It would create a perverse incentive for people who once they got their permit amended, they would be absolved of all responsibility. The fact is the law was violated here for a 42 day period, and Wagoner is still arguing about reclamation, whether they had to do that or not.

MR. DEARMENT: Follow up, Madam Chair, please.

CHAIR DEVENY: Yes.

MR. DEARMENT: Just to make sure I understand correctly. The original permit required reclamation by the last day of 2015, December 2015, for the Department to mean the 31st.

MR. LUCAS: That's correct.

MR. DEARMENT: And on that day you received an application from the permittee to -- when he notified the Department that he would not reclaim the site, but pursue a new amendment to the application.

MR. LUCAS: On that day, the permittee mailed an amendment application to the Department, which was so deficient as to not even allow meaningful review. We received that on or about January 4th. So yes, it was clear that they were at least trying to extend their reclamation date, and they were given nine months to submit a complete application and do that.

MR. DEARMENT: But as of DEQ's receipt of that amendment application in early January, the Department had not considered the applicant, the permittee, in violation for failure to reclaim, did it?

MR. LUCAS: We exercised our prosecutorial discretion, and once again, reasonably I would say, given the fact the permittee had evinced an intent to extend the reclamation date. But the fact is that application was incomplete. Had that application been complete, we wouldn't be here right now. In fact, this case really terminated upon the applicant's provision of a complete application.

MR. DEARMENT: I guess I'm struggling a little bit to understand the Department's view of this as a violation through early 2016, given the Department's ongoing interaction with the permittee to revise and extend the permit after its expiration at the end of 2015.

MR. LUCAS: Well, yes, that's a good point, and that is a ruling the Hearing Examiner made that the period of violation was 42 days, which runs from the last date of the last extension we gave Wagoner to come into compliance. I believe it was September 11th -- I think I'm wrong there -- it was in August. And then that period of violation ended upon Wagoner's provision of a complete application.

And I'd like to point out that in the four months before that, all the deficiency letters were going back and forth because Wagoner would not provide a zoning form signed by the Zoning Administrator. So during those final four months, there was just one issue they couldn't get resolved for whatever reason.

So we worked with them, we exercised our discretion, until it became apparent that we could no longer do so. And the Hearing Examiner determined that the appropriate period for the fine was from the time of our last extension, which did expire, to the time they submitted a complete application.

So in other words, Member Dearment, they're not being fined, and there is no violation for the periods during which they were attempting to work with the Department under the extension.

MR. DEARMENT: Another follow up if I could. One more clarification. So you characterized them as unable to complete or to provide the Department with a completed application through most of 2016; they failed to respond by the final deadline given to you by DEQ; but 42 days later you did receive an application that ultimately the Department was able to approve; is that correct?

MR. LUCAS: That is correct.

MR. DEARMENT: So we're really talking about a period here of about a month where they went from non-compliance or inability to submit a complete application to having done so to the Department's satisfaction?

MR. LUCAS: That's correct. That's the time period at issue with respect to the violation, based on the Hearing Examiner's order which we have not taken exception to.

MR. DEARMENT: Thank you.

CHAIR DEVENY: Other questions from Board members?

MR. BUSBY: Just a quick process question. Were they actually mining during this entire period, or what was physically going on out there?

MR. LUCAS: We don't know what was physically going on out there, except to a limited extent. We don't know if they were mining up to a certain point, but on one day, I believe it was like August 8th, we observed and recorded them mining out there.

So we know that on one day at least they were mining, but there were no facts really adduced, and we won't probably be able to find out those facts until the penalty phase how many days they operated and mined out there, while their reclamation date was expired, and their permit was yet to be amended.

MR. BUSBY: So just to follow up on John's question. This is just a window we're talking about, not any part of it? This is just a window of time that we're talking about, not any mining violation or reclamation violation? It is a window of time between expiration and their application being approved?

MR. LUCAS: It is the window of time between the last date of the multiple extensions we provided them over a nine month period, until they submitted a complete application, at which point they were in compliance, because they'd submitted a complete application to extend their reclamation date.

And that was all they had to do from the beginning. And you have an extensive record in front of you with back and forth and back and forth letters. And again, I would focus the Board on those four -- I believe there were four letters between June and September, where the program kept coming back and saying, "Give us an updated zoning compliance form." And that was required because Wagoner had added about three acres to the mine site.

So the way Wagoner characterizes this is that somehow we were unhelpful. And look, we're always trying to do our job better. We always can do better. We always will do better. The program staff of the Opencut Program works with a variety of technical consultants who have a large span of particular abilities with what they can do, and we work closely with people.

And Wagoner simply did not submit a complete application. At one point in the record, you'll see they actually began arguing over whether they even had to submit a complete application, which chewed up a couple months. And here we are.

MR. DEARMENT: Madam Chair.

CHAIR DEVENY: John.

MR. DEARMENT: One more. Given the roughly nine months of back and forth between the Department and Wagoner between the expiration of the original permit at the end of 2015 and the final deadline at the beginning of the 42 day period that we're talking about here, in roughly September of 2016, was Wagoner ever given notice that this was in fact -- "This is it. You're out of time. This is the final time we'll extend it"?

And why was the Department at the end of its rope, so to speak, at that point, and unwilling to consider another month or so that it took Wagoner to submit what was ultimately an acceptable application?

MR. LUCAS: I don't think Wagoner was ever told, "This is your final extension," but every extension in it of itself is an exercise of discretion. So at any point during that period we could have said "Time is up."

I wasn't here during the time, the nine months that that took. We don't have any evidence in the record as to why we finally said enough is enough.

One thing that probably didn't help was the fact that our staff saw them out there mining actively.

But the other thing is it is a huge problem. Reclamation is the heart of the statute, just like the hard rock statute, just like MSUMA, the coal mining statute. And when that hasn't occurred, and the applicant is out there refusing to submit a complete application, that becomes not so much a public welfare issue as it is a question of what we need to do as a matter of protecting the public trust.

And eventually you reach a point with an applicant -- in this case it was nine months -- where all you can say is, "We're going to refer to Enforcement." Once it was referred to Enforcement, that signature on that zoning application materialized.

Sometimes that's what it takes. Where we draw the line is a question of prosecutorial discretion on a case-by-case basis. My guess is facts would be adduced with respect to that in the penalty phase, but we don't have anything in the record on that, and I would prefer not to speculate for you.

MR. DEARMENT: Thank you.

CHAIR DEVENY: I had a question. This is Chris Deveny. I noticed there were, I think I counted five extensions that DEQ gave for the submittal of the application, and I wonder.

Is there a policy in place that DEQ would follow saying how many extensions would be allowed before a notice of violation or other action would be taken, or is it, as you say, a case-by-case? And are there cases that actually go beyond five extensions?

MR. LUCAS: I'm not aware of any such policy, Madam Chair. I do believe that it is a case-by-case basis, that is heavily dependent on the facts and circumstances. And I can't say, as I sit here today, whether there have ever been more than five extensions granted to any applicant.

What the facts of this case illustrate is if we were granting them extensions, and they were giving us what we'd asked for, my only guess is that we might look at it differently.

But when we're granting an extension, and four times we have to ask for a zoning compliance form, that really kind of informs the discretion, I would think, that we're at the end of our rope; we don't have this person's attention; and it is necessary to resort to an enforcement action, which ultimately did resolve the case.

CHAIR DEVENY: I have one more question.

DEQ is supposed to respond to the applications within a certain time period, and they went way over, according to the operator's written statement that it was 131 days late in approving the amended application. And I wonder why there was that lengthy delay.

MR. LUCAS: Once again, Madam Chair, I would have to speculate. That happened before I got here. We have nothing in the record that indicates why that delay occurred. I don't know if that's something that would come up in the penalty phrase. I do not know why that delay occurred.

I do know it was an extremely problematic project, where we asked again and again and again for relatively simple materials.

And it is also, as some of the non-material disputed facts in this case show, a fact that they are operating a gravel mine in the middle of the Flathead River.

So I don't want to guess, but if I was looking at that application, that would certainly give me pause to consider. But ultimately the application was granted. And again, Madam Chair, I can't explain the delay as I stand here today.

CHAIR DEVENY: Any other questions by Board members or comments?

MR. TWEETEN: Yes, Madam Chair. This is Chris. Mr. Lucas, I'm trying to make sure I understand your argument correctly here, just sort of in over-arching general terms.

Are you contending that the permit that was in place expired by operation of law on December 31st, 2015, and at all times thereafter until 2017 there was no permit in place to allow them to mine? Is that your point?

MR. LUCAS: Member Tweeten, that is not what we are contending. In fact, that is why we withdrew the violation count for operating with an expired permit.

Ultimately in fact the Hearing Examiner found that the permit did not expire because Wagoner got some kind of an application in front of us before the reclamation date, even though it was so incomplete as to really not even allow meaningful review.

So the contention is not that the permit expired. The permit was in place. The permit was not complied with, was not amended. That's the violation, Member Tweeten.

MR. TWEETEN: It was not complied with because they hadn't completed reclamation by December 31st of 2015?

MR. LUCAS: They had not completed reclamation by December 31st of 2015, nor had they submitted a complete application to extend their reclamation date.

MR. TWEETEN: So if we accept the Hearing Examiner's proposed order, the only thing they're being penalized for is the fact that they took awhile to get their complete application together; is that correct?

MR. LUCAS: They're being penalized for operating in violation of their permit, the Board's rules, and the Opencut Mining Act for a period of 42 days.

CHAIR DEVENY: Chris, did you have any follow up on that?

MR. TWEETEN: I'm just processing, Madam Chair.

CHAIR DEVENY: Okay. I can hear that.

MR. TWEETEN: I'll pass to somebody else here for the time being.

CHAIR DEVENY: Any other questions from Board members?

MR. DEARMENT: Madam Chair, I guess I'm struggling with what I think is the same thing Mr. Tweeten is struggling with, is that we are asked to penalize them for a failure to reclaim when that obligation to reclaim had essentially been placed on hold for the duration of the permitting process in 2016, at the end of which I think now it feels to me like it's shifting a little bit to saying they hadn't submitted a complete application, and now at that point that's the problem. And I'm having a little trouble reconciling that.

MR. LUCAS: That was the problem from the beginning, but the important point to remember is that a permit amendment is not effective until the Department receives a complete application and approves the amendment. So they were out of compliance.

The only reason you're hearing "failed to reclaim" and "failed to amend their permit" is because they were given two options, once again, in the exercise of our discretion: You can either reclaim it, or you can amend your permit. There were two ways to get into compliance. They declined to take either way until approximately September 22nd of 2016.

MR. DEARMENT: Thank you.

CHAIR DEVENY: Further comments?

Questions?

MR. BUSBY: This is Dexter, by the way.

So they did not make any application to amend prior, at all, even if it was not complete or before this September 22nd date?

MR. LUCAS: They made an application to amend the permit to extend the reclamation date on or about December 31st, 2015 which is why they're not in violation for that entire permit period, according to the Examiner's ruling.

MR. BUSBY: I'm having a little problem with the timelines on this. We're jumping back and forth between 2016 and 2015.

MR. LUCAS: Well, I mean the important timeline, Member Busby, is the 42 days from the time our last extension expired until the time they submitted a complete application; and basically all the time leading up to that from December 31st, 2015 was a wash because we had continued to grant them extensions.

And again, that is a matter of prosecutorial discretion in our enforcement of the Act. We tried to work with them.

CHAIR DEVENY: Was there any indication to Wagoner that you would have considered another extension?

MR. LUCAS: Not to my knowledge --

CHAIR DEVENY: Based on previously that you had just extended, and extended, and extended, and extended, and extended,

MR. LUCAS: Not to my knowledge, and there is certainly nothing in the record to that effect.

CHAIR DEVENY: Chris, did you have any more comments, questions?

MR. TWEETEN: Yes. I'm still trying to

Mr. Lucas, so the operator had a period of time within which to file an application for modification of the permit, and that period of time was then extended by DEQ in its discretion a number of times until August of 2016; am I right so far?

MR. LUCAS: You're right so far with a minor, but important clarification, that they needed to submit a complete permit application.

They submitted an application --

MR. TWEETEN: But in either the original period of time or whatever period of time they would have under these various extensions, correct?

MR. LUCAS: That's correct, Member Tweeten.

MR. TWEETEN: Okay. And then the last extension in place expired, when was it, August 22nd of 2016; is that correct?

MR. LUCAS: I believe it was earlier than that.

MS. CLERGET: August 11th, 2016.

MR. TWEETEN: The last extension expired

1 sometime in August of 2016.

2 CHAIR DEVENY: It was August 11th, 2016.

MR. TWEETEN: Okay. It was August 11th.

Okay.

CHAIR DEVENY: Then a notice of violation was issued by DEQ on August 16th.

MR. TWEETEN: Right. Okay. And then for the next 42 days, the operator did nothing until at the end of that 42 day period, they filed another application for modification of the permit; is that right?

MR. LUCAS: As far as we know, they filed that application, complete application for the modification of the permit on September 22nd.

MR. TWEETEN: Okay.

MR. BUSBY: And that's the 42 days.

MR. TWEETEN: Okay. And so the contention is that simply by virtue of the fact that the Department had not in its discretion entered an additional extension, there is a 42 day period there where they were -- and again, what's the evidence that they were continuing to operate the mine during that 42 day period?

MR. LUCAS: Member Tweeten, there is no evidence they were continuing to operate the mine during that 42 day period except for the day when we were there and videotaped them.

But it's important to note that the violation is not operating without a permit. The violation is not complying with the permit that they had.

And early on in my argument, I gave the example of myself driving with an expired registration tag. All I would have to do is get out on the street, drive, get pulled over, and I would be guilty, and I would get a ticket. It would mean nothing to the Court to go in and say, "Well, my car was parked for most of those days. They just happened to catch me when I was out of compliance."

So again, the issue is: They were required to comply with their permit; they didn't comply with their permit; and there was a 42 day period, at which point our patience ran out. And after that, once they were referred to Enforcement, we got the complete application, including the zoning compliance form that we'd been looking for since June.

MR. TWEETEN: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Lucas. I appreciate it.

1 MR. LUCAS: Thank you, Member Tweeten.

CHAIR DEVENY: Any other questions or comments by Board members?

(No response)

CHAIR DEVENY: Sarah, would you like --

MS. CLERGET: I just want to note that if we're counting the time that Mr. Lucas has been answering questions, then he's five minutes over his fifteen minutes.

CHAIR DEVENY: Okay.

MR. TWEETEN: I don't care.

CHAIR DEVENY: We'll continue since we're not -- we don't have anybody else that is testifying today.

MR. BUSBY: Quick question for Sarah.

Had you seen the final arguments that we just got yesterday or the day before, before that time from the --

MS. CLERGET: No. My findings, proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law are based on the prior briefing, and then everything else that you have in your packet comes after I issued those proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law.

MR. BUSBY: Okay. Thank you.

CHAIR DEVENY: Is there any interest by any of the Board members to propose a motion for our consideration?

MR. TWEETEN: Madam Chair, this is

Chris. Sure. I'll try one. Let me preface this by saying that I think the argument that is advanced by the Department, although I think correct as a matter of law, is extraordinarily technical, and that that ought to be taken into consideration when we proceed to the penalty phase.

I will move that the Board accept the Hearing Examiner's proposed decision as our final decision granting summary judgment, partial summary judgment to both sides.

CHAIR DEVENY: I would second that motion. Is there any discussion by Board members?

(No response)

CHAIR DEVENY: And I agree with Chris that this seems very convoluted and complicated, and that we should consider this when we will proceed to discussing penalties.

Which Sarah, could you just enlighten us on that phase of this case.

MS. CLERGET: Sure. Assuming that if you take the motion the way that it is currently presented, then you decide this phase of the case, and then it goes back to a Hearing Examiner, if you want to assign it to a Hearing Examiner, the penalty phase proceeds; and then you'll get another proposed findings of fact and conclusions on law on the penalty that will go the same way this has. Does that make sense?

CHAIR DEVENY: Is that a decision we make today what to do with the -- where to assign the penalty?

MS. CLERGET: After you decide on the current motion, then yes, you can decide whether to keep it, or whether to send it back for a Hearing Examiner.

CHAIR DEVENY: So there is a motion before the Board. Discussion. John.

MR. DEARMENT: I was just going to add before we vote that I know that the Opencut Program and the Department in general works very hard to keep its permittees in compliance and avoid enforcement, and despite whatever convoluted or technical nature of the discussion we see here today, it appears to me that they offered the carrot of a new permit to avoid having to take enforcement action for the failure to reclaim.

And it does seem clear that it also then took the stick of the Enforcement Division to finally bring that compliance about.

So from my mind, that help cuts through the confusion a little bit. So with that, I'll turn it over for the vote to you.

CHAIR DEVENY: Thank you, John. Other comments or questions, discussion on the motion?

MR. LUCAS: If I may, Madam Chair. I know you're addressing Board members, but with respect to the penalty phase of this proceeding, the Board has regulations on how penalties are calculated, and those penalties will allow the Board to consider a number of factors, including the interests of justice, in assessing the penalties; and I can assure you the Department will do the same.

CHAIR DEVENY: Thank you. The question is before the Board to -- make sure I've got the motion correctly. Just a second here.

MS. CLERGET: It was adopt the findings --

CHAIR DEVENY: -- to adopt the proposed order in its entirety, and adopt it as the Board's final order. It's been moved and seconded. 1 All 2 in favor, please say aye. 3 (Response) 4 CHAIR DEVENY: Any opposed? 5 (No response) CHAIR DEVENY: None oppose. The motion 6 7 carries. MR. LUCAS: Thank you, Madam Chair, 8 Board members. 9 10 CHAIR DEVENY: So do we move on then to 11 the penalty aspect of this case, Sarah? 12 MS. CLERGET: Yes, you have to decide 13 now whether you would like to keep that phase, or whether you would like to assign it to a Hearing 14 15 Examiner. 16 CHAIR DEVENY: What's the Board's 17 pleasure? 18 MR. TWEETEN: Madam Chair, this is Chris I would move to refer this matter to the 19 again. 20 Hearing Examiner for purposes of conducting the 21 penalty phase of this proceeding. 22 MS. HANSON: I'll second. 23 CHAIR DEVENY: It's been moved and 24 seconded. Any discussion? 25 (No response)
