The Small Business Environmental Assistance Program is an independent, non-regulatory program that provides FREE and confidential assistance to Montana small businesses on the complexities of state and federal environmental regulations and permitting by:

- Assisting with understanding and complying with environmental regulations that cover air, water, and land
- Advocating on behalf of small businesses
- Assisting with communications with DEQ
- Helping small businesses understand environmental permitting requirements and pollution prevention
- Providing education and outreach in the form of workshops, publications, tools, resources, and networking
- Offering on-site compliance assessments
- Working in collaboration with other public and private entities to assist small businesses

If you own a small business and potentially emit or release pollutants, the SBEAP is here to help you. Unsure if your small business is regulated? Give us a call.
